REPORT

of

State Supervising Agent

to

Town School Committee

BARKHAMSTED

Report of State Rural Supervisor

To the Town School Committee of Barkhamsted:

Gentlemen:

Two years have rolled away since I began to work with your children, your committee and the townspeople of Barkhamsted. It has been a pleasure and I wish to note here that with the support of all, our schools, even though handicapped in some cases by poor working conditions, can go far.

Plan of Work

All the children from grades 2 to 8 were carefully tested twice this year by standard tests and all our work in teaching was adapted to fit the special needs that these tests revealed. In every grade in every subject the work has been continued with each pupil in a definite manner.

Our reading course has been re-organized with the best classics known in the hands of the pupils in grades 3 to 8. Part of the upper grade classes have been supplied with books in Hygiene. These were lacking last year. More Hygiene books and more books in Geography will be needed for the next school year but not as many as have been needed during the present school year. When I came to your schools I was unable to find that books in your several schools were fitted to the grades or the subjects in hand. Proper books are as essential for good working conditions in the school as are the proper tools for a farmer who expects to operate his farm in an efficient manner.

Progress

All teachers except at the Center were teachers of experience and every school including the Center has gone forward throughout the year doing the type of work which was exemplified by the graduating class in the church at Pleasant Valley on the evening of June 10, 1930.

Remembering the tradition of the Barkhamsted Lighthouse all schools played they were ships, the children the crew and the teacher the captain.

All planning together we agreed on the following twelve Navigation Activities:—

1. The Great History Voyage of the Year with the hope that we may reach the great Harbor of the Educational Kingdom of Heaven by June.
2. Picture study and continued creative work, including the writing of verse.
3. Continue to issue our monthly magazine for the information of parents and others.

4. The daily illustration of stories read and especially of the history work in all grades.
5. Continue work in reading for speed and comprehension.
6. Continue to measure the progress of pupils by use of Stanford Tests and keep parents informed.
7. Four special aims for each school: ship and crew;—
   a. To learn and practice ways to care for our health.
   b. To learn and practice ways to improve our behavior.
   c. To learn and practice ways to improve our scholarship.
   d. To learn and practice ways to become able thinkers.
8. To practice speaking before the school until each sailor can be heard above the roar of the gales and in an interesting, pleasing and convincing manner.
9. To write and give original plays connected with our greatest navigation activities, and the Great History voyage. To have posted in our cabins at all times pictures, posters, charts and graphs showing the major activities of our voyage.
10. To form on each ship a musical organization to entertain the crew and visitors, and for enjoyment. This may be a special quartet of the best singers, or a Harmonica Band—This is especially recommended—Jewsharps may well intermingle. Other musical instruments may be included.
11. Occasional periods of story telling during English periods. These stories will naturally be stories of the seven seas—the Great Voyage of Magellan, Voyages of Drake, of Paul Jones, of Hudson, of hundreds of other who have gone down to the sea in ships.
12. Write up with care a fairly complete account of a unit of work, how selected, how carried out, and what help it gave.

NEED OF MORE STATE AID

The Town of Barkhamsted needs more aid from the state in operating its schools rather than less. Transportation to high school and tuition in the high school is ever increasing. We must have more state aid if we are to educate the children on these hills, within these valleys, as they deserve that they may go forth on the plains of Life with an even chance with those from richer sections of the state, as for example, West Hartford.

We have no school physician or school nurse to help guard the health of our children as in most of the schools of the state. Our schools are small and scattered and without library facilities. Our teachers, though in general well prepared and faithful, are far removed from the educational centers of the state, and it is difficult for them therefore to make the educational progress necessary for continued growth, in order that they may lead our children far along the Educational Road. They frequently leave us for more congenial surroundings and we must begin with others.

The working conditions in our schools as to light, heat, and other conveniences are often far from modern. Amidst these problems, our needs, and handicaps, our schools are going forward as best they can. We are trying to place in the hands of teachers and pupils the working tools of their profession, namely, books, that they may become familiar with the master minds of the Ages. However, in the Legislative Halls of the State and without, let the watch-word and the song of your town representatives be: "Barkhamsted must have more state aid for her schools."

Scholarship

The scholarship of our children is slowly improving for the following reasons:—

1. We have more books suited to the grade and subjects.
2. All work is planned and carried out in a definite manner.
3. In most of the schools of the town, the children are assuming responsibility in a happy and cooperative manner.

To teach facts alone is, however, no longer our major aim in school, but to

1. Help children to learn how to find and use facts.
2. Help children to become independent in thinking and reasoning.
3. Help children how to do things rather than simply tell how to do things.
4. We are placing large emphasis on aiding children to become open-minded and fair in thought, in work, and in play.

These aims are far more difficult to carry out than the older school aims of teaching facts alone.

Greatest needs as decided on by Pupils and Teachers

On Center Ship it was found there should be improvement in English, cooperation and courtesy.

On Riverton Grammar School Ship it was found that there should be improvenment in Arithmetic.

On Wallins Hill School Ship it was found there should be more cooperation on the play ground and in the school room.

On Mallory School Ship it was found that there should be improvement in neatness of person, school room and grounds, and better cooperation.

On Washington Hill School Ship it was found that there should be improvement in English, Spelling and Arithmetic.

On Pine Hill School Ship it was found that there should be more improvement in English, neatness and cooperation.

On Riverton Primary School Ship it was found that there should be more cooperation on the play ground.

On Pleasant Valley School Ship it was found that there should be decided improvement in scholarship and conduct.

On North East School Ship it was decided that there should be improvement in the meaning and use of words, and in English.

On Central Hill School Ship it was found that there should be improvement in Language.

In the Fall, Public Meeting to which parents and friends were invited, was held at each school, and with suitable exercises, the aim of the year was explained. Those who attended the exercises of Rivrton Grammar School will remember that is was very definite, as it should be. Again in the Spring, Public Meeting was held at each school and at this time the public was informed as to what had been accomplished along the lines of the greatest needs of the individual school.

One of the most interesting of these meetings in the Fall and Spring was that of the Pirates on Pleasant Valley Ship.

It is only with the full cooperation of the children, the teachers, the parents, and the Committee that work of this kind can be carried on successfully and in the schools of Barkhamsted for the year 1929-30 the children, the teachers, the parents, and the Committee have cooperated without exception, and I wish to hereby extend thanks to the Selectmen for their help in making it possible for us to fly the American flag at almost every school in Barkhamsted.

Sincerely yours,

LEWIS S. MILLS.

REPORT

OF THE

State Supervising Agent

TO THE

Town School Committee

Barkhamsted

Report of State Rural Supervisor

TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION IN THE TOWN OF BARKHAMSTED:

This is my third annual report. In the schools in the past year we have, in imagination, been travelers and guides with Geography as our main objective. The several schools selected countries for special study as follows:

Wallins' Hill	Norway and Sweden
Center Hill	Germany
Pine Hill	Brazil
Riverton Grammar	Argentina
Northeast	Turkey
Washington Hill	India
Center	Italy
Mallory	Switzerland
Pleasant Valley	Australia

WHAT WE HAVE TRIED TO DO

1. To find and overcome the greatest travel problems in each school.

2. Travelers and guides of grades 1-2, 3-4, 5-6 and 7-8 to select a state, or occupation, or country for special study during the year. Reports of this study to be made at May public meeting or at promotion exercises.

3. Travelers and guides to write travel songs, plays and poems.

4. To write the words for and sing a school song and to exhibit school work at the annual fair in October.

5. To continue school magazine month by month and make it more interesting than last year.

6. To correspond and exchange work with a school in another state or country.

7. To hold a public meeting in the fall to explain our aims for the year and another in May to show what has been accomplished.

8. The changing of modern life and needs brings the following special aims for guides and travelers;

a. Center attention on the needs and interests of the individual child and at the same time co-operate with him in he study of an organized body of facts and skills necessary for him in high school and in life.

b. To realize that the idea of the child-centered school is more a matter of method than that of subject matter, although it may influence our choice of facts and skills.

c. One of the real functions of a teacher is to interest children in an approved and organized body of facts and skills, but co-operating with the children in finding the parts that best meet their interests and needs.

d. The American High School is becoming the rightful inheritance of most of America's children. Therefore, it is the duty of each school to give its children such facts and skills, such ability in planning, executing and judging, as will enable them to enter high school and succeed.

9. To try for more initiative and freedom in real school work and activities, more co-operative planning and interest on the part of each teacher and child, but retain and use such of our organized body of facts and skills as meets our needs along this new pathway. These facts and skills modified to meet the needs of each individual child.

10. To interest the children in co-operative planning of all school work and activities.

11. To work out with the children unit plans in Geography and in History and in as many other subjects as the teacher and school are able to manage.

12. To select a few pictures for descriptive poem work.

13. To co-operate with our pupils in securing and mastering accurate facts in an orderly manner through the use of unit plans, and allied activities, including construction work, as they plan for the present and the future.

Some of the schools have been very successful with each of the above items, others only in part successful. All the fall and spring public meetings were held and were well attended. Travel songs were written and published in a little Travel Song book. School work in connection with Geography was exchanged with schools in foreign lands. Pine Hill School received two mail sacks of material from Brazil.

Arrangements were made with the State for an extension course in Geography to be given at the Central Junior High School in Winsted under direction of George F. Howe of New Britain Normal School. Every teacher in Barkhamsted showed a progressive spirit of fifteen two-hour lectures. It was very profitable and had direct bearing on the work of the children in the schools. Each teacher in Barkhamsted passed and received credit for two hours of work.

The scheme of greater initiative on the part of the pupils was introduced in part. There have been both successes and failures in our schools during the past year. It is very evident that pupils must be held to their work grade by grade and not allowed to "pass" unless qualified if they are to be prepared for The Gilbert School at the end of grade eight. It is evident, too, that there are pupils who are not naturally fitted to successfully carry on mental work necessary for successful high school preparation or to carry high school work when they have once entered. Therefore, for the next school year, instead of two Stanford Tests, one in the fall and one in the spring, a mental test is planned in the fall and a Stanford Test in the spring.

HEALTH

The schools of Barkhamsted are without school physician or school nurse. This is most unfortunate for the children.

To pupils, teachers, committee and others who have been so kindly co-operated to help the school succeed, I hereby extend my hearty thanks.

Sincerely yours,

L. S. MILLS, Field Supervisor.

Report of Field Supervisor of Schools

To The Barkhamsted Board of Education:

This is my fourth annual report. The interest and help of your Board, and of the teachers, the children and the parents is appreciated. We expect each teacher to do her full duty by every Crusader in our schools. Every teacher has met our expectations this year.

At the opening of the school year we set up the following aims and have followed them faithfully to the end:

1. Improvement in oral and written English.

2. A special quest for each castle to be decided by the inhabitants thereof for earnest effort and definite improvement. This to be proclaimed at fall meeting and success of quest demonstrated at spring meeting.

3. To continue our monthly magazine work that we may keep parents and others informed of what we are doing. No school can long succeed unless the community understands what it is all about.

4. To have each Grade I Crusader keep a list of words mastered day by day.

5. Have at least one unit plan under way at all times in each school.

6. All schools with Grades 5-6 work out month by month for the year and follow a plan of work in nature study, and those with Grades 7-8 for agriculture.

7. To carry on a special bicentennial appreciation study of George Washington and his times and make a newspaper size George Washington book in each schoolroom and plan to exhibit it at the fair next October. To have from February to November, 1932, in each school frequent George Washington plays and pageants.

8. To hold a fall and spring public meeting at each school and invite everyone nearby to come, and be sure to include the School Board. These meetings to be clear expositions of what the school is doing and planning to do. These meetings are not for the purpose of entertainments. They may be called demonstration meetings.

9. To gather and arrange the special tests and papers, grade by grade, for each pupil for the time it has been in school in an individual envelope for reference. This envelope to be passed to the central office in June and back to school the following September.

10. To take Otis Group Test, Grades 3-8, in fall term, Columbian in Grades 3-8 and Haggerty in Grade 2 in winter term and Stanford and Columbian in spring term. To give these careful thought and so find what parts of the work with each Crusader needs special attention. To acquaint each Crusader with his and her greatest quest and suggest ways to improve. All to be done with hope and encouragement for the Crusader.

11. To continue a co-operative plan in operating schools whereby pupils and teachers co-operate in rules, plans, aims and in all work and play with the idea that each pupil may be given responsibility and a chance for purposeful and directed activity that is co-operately planned, also, a chance to lead and direct others, and to live in a happy, social and lifelike situation at school.

12. To have in each school the daily schedule posted, the objective and the special quest as constant reminders and to have special construction work of thoughts, of wood, cloth, paper or other material going on to illustrate subject matter, also, some outside constructive work, e. g. Campville, "Log Cabin Days in Harwinton," if it is needed for better illustration of the work in hand as undertaken. The surroundings of some schools afford better opportunities than others, but surely each rural school can find something in the surroundings to use.

13. To give special attention to nature study drawings for fall, winter, spring, for the fair next October.

14. To have, in imagination, each school building become a castle and all become Good English Crusaders and with sword and shield, real and imaginary, fight our battles mist story, poem, pictures, games, music, story telling, song and the sound of musical instruments. Grades 1-4 to be Pages, Grades 5-7 to be Esquires, and Grade 8 candidates for Knight Crusaders at the Grand Tournament in June, 1932.

15. To entertain in a friendly spirit of good comradeship all visitors at our castles and relate to them in detail what each Crusader is doing.

16. To use all means in our power to have our school become at least a "Good School" as per last year's rating of schools.

In addition to the "Good English" objective each school set up a special Quest, as follows:

Riverton Grammar—Improvement in penmanship.

Pleasant Valley—To improve in oral and written English.

Washington Hill—To learn to read well and with ease and fluency in expression.

Pine Hill—Reading, II-III; Arithmetic, Civics, Health, VI; Health, VII.

Wallin's Hill—Improve in conduct and oral and written English.

Center Hill—Improve in Reading.

Center—Improve in History.

Northeast—Improve in oral and silent Reading.

Riverton Primary—Improve in Reading.
Mallory—Improve in English.

All our teachers showed a progressive spirit and took the extension course in English as given by Dr. Dyer of the New Britain State Normal School. This course was given at the Central School, Winsted, during the fall term.

Fewer pupils failed of promotion this year than last year as scholarship, industry and ideas of faithful work are improving.

A few children fail to pass by reason of uncorrected vision and other physical defects which might be remedied if we had systematic health work in the schools.

The following are the names of pupils who were graduated in June, 16, 1932:

Riverton—
George Arthur Lewis
Elmer Frederic Parsons
Kenneth Manley Ransom
Kenneth Lewie Anstett

Mallory—
Frank Russell Schneider
Mary Merita Hawes
Katherine Baranowski

Wallin's Hill—
Bertha Mildred Jespersen

Washington Hill—
Mary McDonald

Center—
John David Day

Pleasant Valley—
Ralph Slater Adams
Marrion Ruth Johnson
Earl Philip Bernier

In the schools of Barkhamsted we are using the minimum of supplies and books necessary to best progress.

For the coming year we plan to continue as Good English Crusaders and take up the special study of Reading and Literature.

Everything you as parents can do to help your children to keep in good health, to keep hopeful and earnest will help them make progress.

We appreciate the splendid co-operation of all, and pray that we may all work happily together during the year 1932-33.

Sincerely yours,

L. S. MILLS,

Field Supervisor.

Report of Field Supervisor of Schools

To the Barkhamsted Board of Education:

For the past year in the schools of Barkhamsted, we have worked especially for improvement in the use of oral and written English and for a wider knowledge of Literature.

Our detailed aims for the past year have in part been as follows:

1. With the idea of operating schools on less money, the question of more economical uses of books and supplies has become vital and will take careful planning.
2. To find ways to motivate the work in order to secure and maintain enthusiasm and interest among teachers and pupils.
3. To keep in touch with the pupils from these towns who are in high school, to the extent that their record of progress be made known to the upper grade children as an inspiration or a warning for their guidance.
4. To develop in each school continued interest in activities in school and on the playground, co-operative planning and work tending to give children more responsibility.
5. The planning by children and teachers of group activities, including work and games, art, music, literature, poems, plays, dramatization, and the making and using of materials for work that is self-instructive and self-corrective.

In addition to the above we have tried to provide for the natural responses of the children:

1. Where one must be sensitive to the personalities of others.
2. Where one must feel the necessity of co-operation among members of a social group.
3. Where speech and writing are required.

In addition to the above each school has had its special needs as follows:

Center—Co-operation.
Washington Hill—History and spelling.
Riverton Grammar—History.
Riverton Primary—Arithmetic.
Pleasant Valley—Reading and literature.
Northeast—Arithmetic.
Mallory—Health.
Wallin's Hill—Good sportsmanship.
Center Hill—Arithmetic.
Pine Hill—Oral and written English.

The activities we have carried on in our schools have been closely correlated with the progress of the children. A few of these activities were implied in the graduation pageant in June. At this time, I wish to point out that an evolution is going on in the conduct of the schools of the country whereby they are becoming laboratories of mental, physical and social activities and unless we manage our schools somewhat in accord with the newer principles, we shall deprive our children of some of the best of modern eduaction.

In every school we need the full support of every parent or the school cannot do its best. Without the support of all, any school can be wrecked and the best efforts of pupil, teacher, supervisor, and Board be put to naught. The school in the community should be the mutually happy and co-operative meeting place for all who frequent its doors. Our children need all the opportunities for development that we can give them. Let us all, as parents, children, teachers, board members, friends, and supervisor, do our utmost to carry this out in the schools of Barkhamsted.

In the schools we have tried to be conservative in the use of books, in the use of paper and other supplies, and we plan to continue this in as far as we possibly can without interferring with the efficiency of the schools. At a meeting of the Board held at Riverton on the evening of July 25, 1933, it was voted to close Northeast School and transport the two LeGeyt children to Washington Hill School for the coming year.

For the coming year we plan to continue our work with the use of Good English and the special study of Literature. Our chief aim is to help the children become acquainted with a wide range of the world's best Literature.

We plan to continue co-operative work between pupils and teacher and to measure our accomplishments by the best methods we can find.

Each teacher in the Barkhamsted Schools during the past year has put forth splendid effort, which deserves the full support of every parent and friend of the schools. The co-operation and help of the Barkhamsted Board of Education is appreciated· co-operation and help of the parents is appreciated. Even though business stops, education must go on for children cannot wait and all the co-operation and help that we may receive for the coming year will make the work so much more successful.

Sincerely yours,

L. S. MILLS,

Field Supervisor.

It is my wish that all teachers be absolutely fair, patient, inspiring in the work with every pupil in order that the best progress possible may be made. We need all the cooperation possible from the home.

The depression has made it hard for us to do all we would, but let us remember that as long as we maintain the church and the school in all their sanctity in each community, we shall succeed as did the fathers and mothers and children before us.

If we let these fail, the waves of the sea that saw the Pilgrims land shall wail the blasted hopes of the people of every town and village and city in New England.

Earnest endeavor has been made by each teacher to help the individual pupil in his and her work and plans for the future. This has been done under a definite school organization where each pupil has responsibility, and all the chance for initiative that is consistent with wise use of opportunity.

Teachers' meetings, demonstrations, outside speakers, visiting days for teachers, pre-school day for children and parents, speaking contest, travels by pupils, large and small units of work and as frequent visitation by supervisor as possible for conferences with teachers and pupils, have aided the progress of the schools. Promotions are made on the basis of "what is best for the pupil," as well as we know.

For next year we face the following problems:

1. The need of the service of a school nurse at least one day a week in our schools. If one were shared with my other four towns, the expense, less state aid, would not be very great—about $120 including car.

2. "If liberty flees from our institutions, music from our scenes of work and play, and art from our surroundings, and faith from our lives, there will be no more joy and no more progress."

While most of our teachers have a good knowledge of music, a trained music supervisor on the same basis as a nurse would give our children a much better opportunity to develop in musical accomplishment and enjoyment.

3. Education is not a process of "go" and "stop" like an auto in a city of green and red lights, but is a continuous process. This being so, we are anxious to help children and parents plan and carry out summer activities as a part of the education of children.

For next school year we have formulated our plans based on the following principles, set forth in 1932 by the American Historical Association in their book, "A Charter for the Social Sciences" and published by Scribners:

1. "The necessities of scholarship, the realities of society, and the requirements of the teaching and learning process, form inescapable and binding covenants."

2. "A wide knowledge of facts, wise practice in self control, clear thinking and fair play are four requisites needed by all who are to become useful citizens."

In carrying on our work we well know that "kindergarten methods of education" are out of place in middle and upper grades of normal children.

The habit of employing "effort" has not, and never can, come alone from playing, and building, and romping and visiting and creating as a sort of spontaneous combustion affair. Each day there are mental, physical and emotional hurdles to jump. Many of them happy and joyous affairs. Others may be dry as dust. As embryo philosophers our children must understand this from the beginning. We, too, must note that the person who is unable to work until he is bursting with enthusiasm is like a sky rocket. He cannot go by himself, but has to wait for someone to light the fuse.

In the schools, then we plan to follow a middle course with every effort possible looking toward the encouraging and helping of each child to develop and use his powers to the best advantage as an individual and as a member of various groups. Looking toward this end, school life must be real living, abounding in real experiences, but in a planned and thoughtful manner.

Tercentenary

The Connecticut Legislature has set the year 1935 as the Three Hundredth Anniversary of the settlement of Connecticut. In accord with this, we have by teacher and pupil conference, from State Highway Maps, divided the town so that each school is to cover a special part this summer and during the next school year.

This work will form a unit for the year for each school and in addition to the history, it is to include nature, trees, plants, shrubs, animals, rocks, soils, water, insects and as many other things as we have time to take up. Teachers and pupils have made plans for this unit activity. It will also include the writing of description, stories, poems, songs, and the writing of plays and the dramatization of local historical events. This will lead to tableaus, pageants and all the accompanying train of activities. Many drawings, paintings, and snapshots will be made to illustrate our findings.

Collections of Indian and Colonial articles will be a part of this work. In our drawings and writings we hope to be able to have printed in attractive pamphlet form some of the best from each school that our efforts may be perpetuated.

Our graduation in June 1935 will show in pageant or play some of the high lights of the history of the town of Barkhamsted.

Special Activities

In connection with their historical unit work there will be many excursions and trips during the year to historical spots, homes, cemeteries, historical societies and other places of historical and natural interest.

Many of the handicrafts of colonial days may be learned from the older people of the town and taken up to some extent in the school.

In accord with the educational principles at the opening of this program, a balance between fundamentals and the tercentenary unit will be maintained in a co-operative, orderly and happy manner.

The full cooperation of parents, townspeople, board of education and other organizatins will be needed to make the work most successful and valuable.

Every visit of the supervisor in the schools, every conference with teachers, pupils, parents, boards of education and other organizations is to help advance this entire program as a part of the educational opportunity for each child in the public schools of the town.

All repairs, all equipment, all books, all supplies requested are actually needed as aids in advancing the program here set forth.

Your schools are operating as carefully as possible with respect to books and supplies. We are in many cases using old editions of books once discarded and out of date. In many cases our children are viewing the world through pre-war authors. We are not using as many supplies as formerly, or as many as are needed for best results. Many of our wall maps are fifteen to twenty years old and do not show any of the changes in European and African boundaries made by the World War.

The government codes imposed on commercial houses make for higher prices on all we purchase. Some of the teachers have duplicated material to help out and save expense and I have so done from my office. The state has cut supplies for my office as well as salary so that there is a limit to what I can do. The teachers labor under a decreased income, too. We know that your income has been cut. All I can say is—Let us each do the best we can for the sake of the children.

Sincerely yours

LEWIS S. MILLS

Report of Field Supervisor of Schools

To the Barkhamsted Board of Education:

During the year just closed we have spent much time on the State Tercentenary work in the study of State and Local History. Each school established a colonial corner in the school room where colonial exhibits were displayed. Around this history work many activities centered and were repeated at the spring public meeting. The graduation was the climax of the unit work of the year.

The Gilbert Entrance Examinations this June remind us we must follow the state law and actually teach English Grammar, History, Arithmetic and Geography.

A few years ago there were over one thousand one teacher schools in the state. Now there are about three hundred of these left. Several towns are building consolidated schools this year with government aid.

Until the shift of population caused by the work of the Water Board is completed in Barkhamsted, I doubt if we are ready to build a new school center.

"The teacher a guide" is to be our motto. Our activities are to be intelligent activities and for a purpose with reading, study and research accompanying each.

We shall consider the following:

1. Does our school life respect the personality of each child?
2. How can we make our schoolrooms attractive places?
3. How can we improve health conditions in the school and home surroundings of the children?
4. How can we help children to appreciate their opportunities?
5. How can we have each child continually confronted with appropriate opportunities and challanges?

6. How can we help each child improve emotional control?

7. How can we enable each pupil to gain satisfaction from some kind of accomplishment?

8. How can we promote cooperation?

9. How can we develop a sense of responsibility on the part of each child?

10. How can we discover and develop leadership?

11. How best develop a thoughtful and useful knowledge of the fundamental tools of daily life and needs of high school preparation.

The above eleven items are, in general, our main objectives as set by teachers at special discussion periods during the latter part of the present school year and form the basis of our endeavors for 1935-36.

From the Stanford tests and other achievement tests, we find there is need of greater emphasis on location and map drawing in geography, on dates and locations in history and on formal grammar.

In carrying these out, we shall discuss, report and enlarge on them at the ten Teacher's Meetings of the next school year.

We shall acquaint the pupils, parents, boards of education and the general public with our problems and aims.

The Connecticut statutes state that "in the Elementary schools shall be taught——reading; spelling; writing; English grammar; geography; arithmetic; United States, State and local history, the duties of citizenship" etc.

We assume the law means what it says and shall proceed accordingly, and teach these subjects.

There is no more conflict between the ideals of the new school and the above definite statement of the statutes than there is between the Bible and science. Both agree if properly interpreted.

Tool subjects are an essential part of social intelligent subjects, but should not be emphasized above the idea.

The following pupils were graduated from the schools of Barkhamsted in June, 1935:

Center:
Robert Blackman

Wallins Hill:
Donald Jespersen

Report of Field Supervisor of Schools

To the Barkhamsted Board of Education:

While carrying the regular school work we have at the same time concentrated on current events during the past school year. This developed into a "March of Time" program at graduation.

Public meetings were held at each school in the fall and spring. At the Valley the school orchestra was very successful; also, five of the girls, Elsie Wolfe, Mazie Bernier, Adelaide Slater, Luella Sullivan and Ruth Champlin made unusual progress in group singing with guitar accompaniment and sang over WTIC in Hartford, an honor that has seldom come to pupils from a one teacher school.

We plan to continue current events and special work in literature for 1936-1937.

The teachers and myself tremendously appreciate the good will and help of the parents and members of the Barkhamsted Board of Education.

Needed repairs have been made to the several schools, especially at Washington Hill. It seems that the school buildings we plan to continue should be kept attractive. In my opinion we should plan for three school centers in Barkhamsted; Riverton, Valley and Washington Hill.

The following pupils were graduated from the schools of Barkhamsted in June, 1936:

Mallory School	Pleasant Valley School
Inez Stevens	Elsie Wolfe
Eleanor Schneider	Adelaide Slater

REPORT OF FIELD SUPERVISOR OF SCHOOLS

To the Barkhamsted Board of Education:

Regular work of the schools has been carried forward as usual and current event papers have been used in each school one and two periods a week for the study of world events. This work was exemplified at graduation in Riverton in June.

Public meetings were held at each school in the fall and again in the spring to demonstrate the work of the schools to parents and friends. Each teacher cooperated in a splendid manner with parents, children, board and myself in the interests of the children. The kindly attitude of all toward the work of the schools is very greatly appreciated.

The Melody Singers, consisting of Elsie Wolfe, Mazie Bernier, Luella Sullivan, Adelaide Slater and Ruth Champlin, all of Pleasant Valley, continued their practice one afternoon a week during the school year. This group sang with acceptance before the students and faculty at the State Teachers' College at Danbury just before Christmas 1936 and sang again in the auditorium at the Teachers' College of Connecticut at New Britain before the entire student body and faculty. They also sang at Farmington Center School in Farmington and several other places. They have brought much credit to the schools in the town of Barkhamsted.

Eventually, Barkhamsted should have a school center at Riverton and at Pleasant Valley.

The following pupils were graduated from the schools of Barkhamsted in June, 1937:

Riverton:
Louise Doty
Beatrice Miller

Center:
Robert Bell

Washington Hill:
Katherine LeGeyt
Mary Ellen LeGeyt
